

Jack and His Monsters

Written by: By Kasparas Survila

Form: 4th

Neveronys Gymnasium, Kaunas, Lithuania

Once upon a time, there lived a boy named Jack. He was nine years old and lived with his parents on Mirror street. Jack was no ordinary boy. He was a special boy living on a special street. You see, Jack was able to see and communicate with all sorts of monsters.

Monsters were actually very kind and helpful for Jack. This young and shy boy couldn't get any good grades in school. Because of this his parents were very mad at Jack. After being punished and punished, Jack finally gave up and began to hate everybody. But the point was, that on Mirror street, emotions were made real! Mirrors created a copy of Jack, which was very terrific, selfish and cruel. Jack's evil copy started to terrorise the Hulu (the city that Jack lived in). Every young boy in town became sad for the rest of his life. Every teenager has failed his final exams and was dropped out of the school. The gift of reading and counting was taken away from grown-ups. After evil Jack completed his plan - turning every human sad, his plan of making the whole world sad began to grow roots.

There was a survivor, good and shy Jack. His monsters woke him up and explained what happened in Hulu. After a week of planing Jack finally created a plan on how to defeat the evil inside him. The only way was to pass the hardest test in the world. Rumours has it that all who tried to solve this test and failed were sent to a different dimension of Mirror street where humans were nothing but an empty bodies.

So, Jack had to man up and solve this test in order to defeat his evil copy. Monsters helped Jack to sneak past all the guards of forbidden room where the test was held. In that room Jack closed his eyes and wished for a miracle, after what he started writing. There was a catch that evil Jack didn't know about. Although he was informed about the good Jack and his tries to save the world, he didn't knew about the monsters.

You see, those ones were no ordinary monsters, they were very inteligent. So, the monsters helped Jack to solve the test. After the test was done, Jack and his monsters rushed to meet the evil Jack to show the results. After long hours of walking, they finally met. The paper was given by Jack to his evil copy and suddenly the evil copy of Jack dissapeared. Then Jack showed the paper with an A+ on it to everyone in the town and it was the end of sadness. After Jack grew up, he became a math teacher and was well know all over the world.

What about the evil Jack?, you may ask? Well, he was never seen again. All people went back to their normal lives and lived happily ever after.

<http://www.simpleenglishnews.com/archives/stories/write-short-story-53110681>